

Data Analyst – Ad copy

The Hogrefe Test Publishing Group is seeking an experienced psychometric data analyst. . The role will be based in Hogrefe UK offices in Oxford will encompass responsibility to all Hogrefe Group companies across nine countries at present. The successful candidate will have in-depth specialist knowledge of data analysis techniques arising from CTT and IRT traditions. A balanced view of the relative pros and cons of the two traditions is required along with an in-depth knowledge of ITC guidelines for the adaptation of psychometric tests across national cultures. Fluency in English is required and knowledge of other languages is desirable; particularly German and French. The successful candidate will have good report writing and presentation skills; will be sensitive to the diverse perspectives of different national groups; will be attentive to detail and will have the capacity to communicate complex concepts in understandable terms. Applicants should initially send a CV and covering letter by e-mail to wendy.lord@hogrefe.co.uk

Location: Oxford, UK