

SEIU 775 Benefits Group Careers

Educational Research Analyst

Apply

SEIU 775 Benefits Group • Seattle, Washington

Description

Organizational Overview

The SEIU 775 Benefits Group is a family of employee benefit plans negotiated and sponsored by SEIU 775, the labor union for long-term care workers in Washington State & Montana. We are leading the transformation of home care into a thriving career and helping to prevent the coming care crisis. With 10,000 people turning 65 every day in the U.S., there are not enough qualified, trained workers to care for the exponential rise in older adults needing care. Through groundbreaking initiatives, the SEIU 775 Benefits Group, together with its union and employer partners, are ensuring that Washington state home care workers have access to the skills and support they need to stay and grow in the field.

Position Summary

Reporting to the Assessment Manager, the Educational Research Analyst will research, develop, design, launch, and evaluate measurement of student performance and readiness. This information is intended to inform business decisions and process improvement; as well as empower individual student success through individualized support services. The ideal candidate will possess deep experience in the development and delivery of student readiness and achievement data. The Assessment Analyst will be responsible for design, coordination, development, and deployment of educational testing with emphasis on competency acquisition, application, and retention, as well as workforce readiness. Implementing procedures for assessment deployment, ensuring the veracity of data, and validating assessment methods and results are part of this portfolio. If you want to make a difference in the lives of home care aides and those who they support, we want to hear from you!

You Will:

- Plan, coordinate, and execute all assessment development and design activities ensuring accuracy, consistency, integrity, and quality throughout all phases of the process
- Accurately analyze, interpret, and clearly communicate assessment results
- Work with content design and development specialists to review assessment results and provide details across various departments
- Acquire and maintain knowledge of current developments in assessment design and development research
- Develop and maintain a program of research, publication, and presentations at professional conferences on issues affecting business
- Maintain quality and security control on all projects
- Assist in developing, designing and documenting technical and operational procedures and guidelines for assigned area
- Perform other duties commensurate with level

You Have:

- Bachelor's degree in Assessment Development, Educational Measurement, Psychometrics, or related field with an emphasis on assessment development, design, and delivery, or equivalent work experience (Master's degree preferred)
- A minimum of 3-5 years of hands-on experience developing, designing, and evaluating measures of training outcomes or other education-related assessments
- Experience applying relevant skills in a business environment, such as an educational institution
- Experience developing and validating educational assessments
- Strong and effective verbal and written communication skills
- Ability to multitask and work when there are shifting priorities
- Awareness of current trends and directions in online learning preferred

The SEIU 775 Benefits Group is an equal opportunity employer and offers an exceptional compensation and benefits package.

Apply Apply Later

← Back to Current Openings

Share

powered by Jobvite