

IMPS 2020

July 14-17 • University of Maryland

College Park, Maryland, United States

Conference Location: The University of Maryland is located in College Park, a small city that is home to historic walking tours and miles of interconnected hiker-biker trails connected to Washington, D.C. Easily accessible by metro, bus, or other public transportation, Washington, D.C. can be reached within 30 minutes.

Local Hosts:

Hong Jiao
University of Maryland

Qiwei (Britt) He
Educational Testing Service

Frank Rijmen
American Institutes for Research

Dan Bolt
2019 President-Elect and
2020 President of Psychometric Society

Lodging & Travel: The Society will share any hotel and group discount information on their website as IMPS 2020 approaches; attendees will be responsible for arranging their own accommodations ahead of time. Transport around the area is possible using public transportation such as metro and bus. Three large airports are in the Washington metro area: Baltimore-Washington International Airport, Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport, and Washington Dulles International Airport. To learn more about the transportation to and from the campus, visit: <https://globalmaryland.umd.edu/offices/transportation>.

More details to follow.

Please go to: <https://www.psychometricsociety.org>

Photo courtesy of Bgervais-Wikipedia-CC-BY-SA3.0

Photo courtesy of Radhika Kshirsagar-Wikipedia-CC-BY-SA3.0

IMPORTANT DATES

Pre-conference Workshops
Monday, July 13

Conference
Tuesday, July 14 – Friday, July 17

Abstract submission deadline
February 15

Notification to authors
March 15

Presenter registration deadline
April 1

Early bird registration deadline
April 15

Photo courtesy of Bgervais-Wikipedia-CC-BY-SA3.0

Looking forward to seeing you in Maryland!