

Part-Time Psychometrician (Remote – U.S. Based)

CPS Publishing LLC is a global publishing house dedicated to advancing psychological science, assessment, and clinical knowledge. We are currently seeking a Part-Time Psychometrician to support our ongoing assessment and publishing projects.

Learn more about our work at:

<https://cpspublishinginc.com/>

Position Overview

The Psychometrician will contribute expertise in psychological assessment and measurement, with a focus on work involving children and adolescents, particularly within Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) populations. This role supports the development, review, and application of assessment tools and related content.

Qualifications

The ideal candidate will have:

- Residency in the United States
- Professional experience working with children and teens, especially those with ASD
- A well-established professional reputation, including published articles
- Familiarity with projective assessment instruments
- Strong background in psychometrics and psychological testing

How to Apply

Please submit your CV and two professional references by email to:
cpspsych2@aol.com