IMPS 2026 Annual Meeting Safety Tips for International Travelers

Travel Documents:

- Passport – Korea requires that visitors have a passport that is valid for the duration of their stay, with at least one blank page for stamps. (Remember to check your passport expiration date! The US Department of State advises that travelers have a passport with at least six-months of validity.)
- Driver's License or Other Identification
- Health Insurance Card or Identification (NOTE: Contact your health insurance provider before traveling to make sure you are covered. Most policies DO NOT provide coverage outside of the country. Travel medical insurance is available for very low cost through numerous sources.)
- Boarding passes
- A card listing the location of the nearest embassy to your destinations
- NOTE: You should copy or scan the identification pages of your passport prior to traveling. Keep a copy with you, and give a copy to someone you trust at home. This will speed up the replacement process in case your passport is lost or stolen.
- Travelers who have changed their gender are advised to carry proof of gender change in addition to a valid passport with a current photo and gender listed.
- Consider registering with your embassy in the country you are visiting. United States citizens can register on-line through the Smart Traveler Enrollment Program, or STEP, at step.state.gov/step/.

Medication (If you are taking prescription narcotics or psychotropic drugs, you should have the following):

- A letter from your doctor stating what medications you are prescribed.
- A copy of the original prescription.
- Enough prescription medication to last the entire trip, plus up to 5 days extra in case of delays or loss.
- Prescription medications should be in the original packaging, with the label attached.
- Note that Korea allows travelers to possess up to 90 days supply of medication with a valid medical prescription.

Emergency Contact Information:

- People at home who you would want contacted in the event of an emergency. It is a good idea to keep a copy of this list in your passport or on your person in case you are ill, injured or otherwise unable to communicate.
- Contact information for your hotel or lodging at your destination (it is a good idea to obtain and carry a business card from the hotel or lodging).
- Keep a printed hard-copy of your passport identification page in your luggage when traveling, and in your hotel room safe when you are at the conference.

Cash or Credit Cards:

- Do not take all of your credit cards with you. Carry one or two, and keep others in the safe in your room or in the hotel lockbox.
- Contact the credit card issuer for any credit cards you plan to carry prior to leaving. Let them know where you are going, and the dates you will be gone. This will prevent the possibility that your credit card issuer will decline charges based upon suspicion of fraudulent use.

- If offered, sign up for text or email alerts for charges. This will help you identify any suspected unauthorized use.
- Avoid carrying large amounts of cash with you when exploring. Carry what you think you need, and secure the rest in your hotel safe or lockbox.
- Remember that there may be foreign transaction fees for ATM use. Check with your bank to identify fees prior to travelling.
- If you need to withdraw money from an ATM, tug on the card reader slot to make sure that there is no “skimmer” attached (a device used by thieves to capture your card data). If possible, use ATMs that are located inside of the conference venue, hotel, or banks.
- To avoid currency conversion fees when returning from your travels, use excess remaining currency to pay for your room charges or other fees when you check out of the hotel to return home.

Communications:

- Verify whether your hotel or the conference venue has public Wi-Fi, and what the cost of Internet access is prior to traveling.
- Connect ONLY to trusted Wi-Fi connections. These should be published or available from the conference staff, your hotel, or the conference venue.
- Avoid using open, unsecure Wi-Fi Hotspots.
- Install a personal firewall on your computer or portable electronic device.
- Contact your cellular provider before leaving and make sure that your cellular phone plan allows international use, as well as the costs.
- Make sure that your phone and computer are secured with a password or PIN.
- Backup your phone data to the Cloud to make sure that you can access contacts and other important data if your phone is lost or stolen.
- Consider downloading local maps to your device prior to traveling.
- Consider using a translator app to facilitate communications. You should download the languages for your destination country, as well as any country in which you have a connection when traveling.

- Emergency Numbers in Korea:
  - Police: 112
  - Fire: 119
  - Ambulance: 119
  - Non-Emergency Medical advice: 1339
  - Note that Korean Emergency Call Centers do provide support in English and other languages. State “English, please” to allow the operator to initiate a 3-way call with the Korean Travel Helpline.
- Traveler assistance for non-emergency tourist information, interpretation, and travel complaints is available through the Visit Korea Helpline. This service can be accessed by dialing 1330 from any phone in Korea. Visitors who are using their phone from their home country may need to dial +82-2-1330.
- Visit Korea Helpline can be accessed on-line at: english.visitkorea.or.kr/svc/contents/contentsView.do?vcontsId=140632

Personal Safety and Security:

- Never give your hotel room information to someone you don't know.
- Do not open your hotel room door to anyone you don't know or recognize.
- If someone knocks on your door and identifies themselves as a hotel employee and you are not expecting anyone, contact the front desk to verify their identity.
- Store your personal valuable items in your room safe or a hotel lockbox when you are not in your room.
- Do not leave valuables or personal electronic items unsecured in your room when you are out.
- Avoid walking alone to and from the conference venue, especially at night.
- If you are exploring, let someone know where you are going, who you will be with, and what time you expect to return.
- Avoid carrying your wallet, passport, or cash in your rear pants pockets.
- Avoid counting cash in public, or in publicly displaying where your wallet, cash or passport is stored on your person.
- Keep your cash, passport, and wallet separate when outside or exploring.
- Consider purchasing a RFID shielding cover for your passport.
- Leave a copy of your travel itinerary, hotel information, passport, and conference contact information with your emergency contact.

- Stay vigilant in crowds. If you see a disturbance, avoid getting caught in it by retreating, taking a different route, or hailing a taxi or ride share service (Uber/Lyft).
- Wear your purse or bag with the strap across your back and chest, instead of hanging loosely off of the shoulder.
- Be vigilant while riding public transportation, in tourist areas, or in airports or public transportation stations. If possible, have a "travel buddy" to help you keep an eye on each others belongings.

LGBTIQ+ Information:

- LGBTIQ activity is legal in South Korea; however, same-sex marriage or civil partnerships are not legally recognized.
- Acceptance is not widespread among the general population, particularly among rural populations and older citizens.
- Larger population centers have increasingly open attitudes towards the LGBTIQ community. Seoul and Yonsei University both have active, if discreet presence for the LGBTIQ+ community. Yonsei's Student Code of Ethics prohibits discrimination and harassment based on sexual orientation
- Travelers who have changed their gender are advised to carry proof of gender change in addition to a valid passport with a current photo and gender listed.
